

Stories of Redstone

Christ at work in our midst

Confirmation (in the Christian Church) refers to the rite at which a baptized person, especially one baptized as an infant, affirms his or her Christian belief and is admitted as a full member of the church. It is the moment a youth takes ownership of his or her own faith journey. In Redstone Presbytery, we are blessed to have Pine Springs Camp, which holds a special confirmation retreat in April each year. On a snowy April weekend, approximately 12 youth and adults made the trek up to PSC to learn about the Presbyterian Church and each other.

Taylor Barner, is an M.Div. student at Pittsburgh Theological Seminary and candidate for ordained ministry in Redstone Presbytery. He had this to say about the retreat: "Well I saw a group of students from three different congregations who were actively engaging with one another and with Jesus Christ through a series of teamwork activities, topical lectures, and group worship. We discussed many topics such as the importance of Scripture, Presbyterian polity, and the Sacraments. We bonded over meals and goofy games and it was easy to see the growth and excitement within the students throughout the retreat." Welcome to all who are being confirmed to church membership this spring! Want to learn more about how your church can participate? Contact our Presbytery office via redstone.org or on Facebook!
